News

This month, an eagled eyed farmer spotted a yellow truck parked in the middle of his field with three men emptying plasterboard into the beautiful countryside. Making the most of his trusty telehandler he tactical placed some haybales in their path to prevented their escape and he called the police.

When officers arrived, they were able to quickly identify the offenders in their bright yellow van in the middle of the field! They were able to get their hands on the fly tipping offenders.

The driver was only a provisional licence holder and therefore having no insurance resulted in their large van being seized, and with a combination of traffic and criminal offences, all three were reported for summons. A tip permit may have been a cheaper option! This was a great joint effort and shows how effective having eyes and ears out there to report incidents to us is.

#CrimeStoppers

This month, PC 4009 Claire Kilbourne had the pleasure of speaking to the Fleckney Squirrels and Beavers about road safety and about being a police officer. Both groups were brilliant and asked some great questions and as you can see they were fascinated by her handcuffs and her police equipment.
