Positive actions—Patch walks, councillors and partnerships working

Working collaboratively this month with our local Anti-Social Behaviour officer, Tim! This gave us an opportunity to explore areas in Aylestone that we don't normally find ourselves in as often!

Neighbourhood Police bring enforcement powers, local beat knowledge, and the ability to deal with criminal offences. Meanwhile, ASB council officers offer specialist knowledge in housing, environmental issues, tenancy enforcement, and civil powers such as warnings, injunctions, and community protection notices. These patch walks offered up intelligence and more knowledge into our beat area!

Events, partner agencies and coming together

Being the Neighbourhood Policing team in Aylestone means we get to attend events that allow us to join up with our partner agencies. This also allowed our beat officer to meet parents in the area, talk about the work we are doing in the community and allow us to gather feedback from local residents.

Overall, these events are a fantastic way for officers to engage with residents in a positive environment all whilst working with our fellow emergency workers!
